

Developing A Personal Mission Statement

➤ What did you do?

Think of a time when you looked back on what you had done that day and it made you smile because you knew you had done something good, something right. Jot down a few notes to remind you of that story.

➤ What are you good at?

Now think about what it was that you liked so much about yourself in this story? What characteristics did you display? What do others say about you when they tell the same story? Choose as many as you like from the list below, and feel free to add any of your own.

COMMITMENT	HUMILITY	UNDERSTANDING
COMPASSION	HONESTY	CLARITY OF PURPOSE
POSITIVE ATTITUDE	PATIENCE	STRENGTH OF CONVICTION
VISION	DRIVE	GOOD LISTENING SKILLS
INTELLIGENCE	PASSION	KINDNESS
TRUSTWORTHINESS	CARING	ACCEPTANCE OF DIFFERENCES
COURAGE	GENEROSITY	PERSISTENCE
DEPENDABILITY	CREATIVITY	TOUGH LOVE

➤ What is Important to You?

List 3-5 ideas or causes in our community that you think are critical to the quality of life. Be creative about this part of the exercise. You could identify a group of people (e.g. people with a particular disability), a cause, an issue, something that usually catches your eye when you see a story about it in the newspaper. Or maybe it's something that makes your community special.

Group/Idea/Cause	Why is it important to you?

➤ What is Your Vision?

Just for this exercise, pick one of these and write down what you wish for on their behalf. You may want to repeat the exercise for other causes later.

➤ What Are You prepared to Do?

Finally, write down what you are ready to commit to doing to help achieve that vision. Take into account what you know you are good at and what you believe others see in you.

Congratulations. You just wrote a personal mission statement.
